Replacing headers and organizing with div's

Div's need ID's: e.g.

 this is your paragraph, instead of a regular p tag

If you copy and paste properly the DIV's maintain their content and work properly

CSS Flexbox:

A repeating list of boxes that will repeat and all be the same size.

We will mainly use it for its centering capabilities...

Within mystle.css:

```
Body {

    display: flex;
    justify-content: center;
    background: pink;
}
```

```
#container{

    Position: relative;

}
```

```
#content-box{

background: white;
padding: 15px;
margin-bottom: 15px;

}
```

Pseudoclasses:

Used to define a special state of an element (an a tag or a link)
